

CARDINAL STRITCH STRICKEN — Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, center, is shown upon his arrival in Rome, Italy, where he was hospitalized with a blood clot in the major artery of the right arm. The arm was amputated today and the operation was termed successful. Cardinal Stritch had journeyed to Rome to take up his new post as pro-perfect of the Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith.

Cardinal's Right Arm Is Amputated

Removed to Check Blod Clot; Condition Reported Very Good

ROME (AP) —The right arm of Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, was amputated just above the elbow today to check a blood clot. The 70-year-old prelate's condition was described as very good.

The 35-minute operation was performed by Dr. Pietro Valdoni, famed Italian surgeon who saved the life of Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti after an attempt to kill him 10 years ago.

Two Chicago physicians assisted in the surgery on the veteran churchman who was stricken aboard ship en route to take up his new duties as pro-prefect of the Vatican's worldwide mission activities. They were Dr. Ralph Bergen and Dr. John Keeley.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff, who also assisted, said the cardinal awoke soon after the operation and said he "was feeling fine and did not suffer any pain." Rocchi said the churchman probably would remain in the hospital about two weeks.

Pope Pius XII, who had sent his blessing and had been praying for his colleague, was notified at once of the success of the operation. The pontiff expressed his happiness at the news.

Shortly before the cardinal went under the knife, he was visited by the pontiff's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi.

The cardinal, whose hand and lower forearm had been darkened and left lifeless by his ailment, was given the last rites of the church before the operation. It was emphasized that they were administered to provide spiritual fortification, not because his life was in danger.

The cardinal was afflicted with a clot in the major artery of his arm which developed suddenly on the last two days of his voyage to Rome. Upon his arrival in Naples Friday, he was weak and pale and already had lost the use of his limb.

Priests attending the ailing prelate said he had remained in good spirits right up until the operation.

60 Per Cent of USAF May Be Missile Units By '60 Says General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force estimates that by the middle 1960s about 60 per cent of the air defense units will be missile units, with manned aircraft accounting for only 40 per cent.

The prediction came today in published testimony by Lt. Gen. G. S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff for materiel, before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

"The over-all combat force is presently equipped with approximately 99 per cent manned aircraft units and 1 per cent missile units," he said. "It is anticipated that in the mid-1960s the combat force will be equipped with approximately 65 per cent manned aircraft units and 35 per cent missile units."

"The Air Force does not contemplate phasing the aircraft out of the force structure in the foreseeable future."

Other Air Force officials also expressed, in their testimony, the belief that missiles never will supplant manned aircraft completely, even in the long-range strategic bombardment field.

Union's Proposal Awaited

Offers an Extension For Three Months If Prices Are Cut, Benefits Increased

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union today will propose that its contracts with the Big Three carmakers be extended for three months. One of the companies already was reported drafting its rejection.

The UAW said the plan would be presented to regular negotiating sessions this afternoon. It declined to discuss details in advance.

However, it was learned that in exchange for the extension—which would make contracts expire just when 1959 models are ready for introduction—the union will ask the automakers to cut car prices and boost unemployment benefits.

Companies involved are General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Present UAW contracts expire about June 1 with all three.

The union said none of the three has seen the new proposal. But a spokesman for one of the companies, who insisted his firm remain unnamed at this time, said a drafting of its rejection already is in the works.

The amount of the car price slash was not disclosed. It was understood the union wants supplemental unemployment benefits raised from the present 60 to 65 per cent of worker take home pay to 80 per cent.

Some 450,000 of the UAW's 1,350,000 members now are laid off.

If the industry accepts the contract extension, the current pacts would run out just as it was ready to introduce its 1959 models. Observers said this would give the UAW a bargaining advantage since so many UAW members now are laid off and a strike at this time to back up contract demands would do little more than help the industry cut production of an already overstocked market.

A General Motors spokesman, told of the reported offer, said: "The way it reads I don't think we'd go for it." Ford and Chrysler declined comment.

The UAW is seeking a profit-sharing plan, a wage increase and other benefits in negotiations on present contracts.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—There were no fatalities listed on Missouri highways over the weekend, and one person died as a result of an automobile collision which occurred Friday.

Free was returning home after a training flight with the Missouri Air National Guard. The highway patrol said another car skidded into the path of his auto. One occupant of the other car was killed. He was Ralph William Blessman, 43, of Kansas City, Kan.

Kansas had four fatalities Sunday.

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP)—The annual convention of the California Rural Firemen's Assn. ended on a fitting note Sunday — a fire broke out in convention headquarters at the Hotel Woodland.

Dismissal Of Suits Is Upheld

Faubus' Appeal From Injunction Is Rejected

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dismissal of suits by Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and others against government actions to enforce integration at Central High School in Little Rock was upheld today by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The appellate court rejected Faubus' appeal from an injunction against his use of Arkansas National Guard troops to keep Negro children out of the Little Rock school.

Also rejected were parallel actions appealed by Mrs. Clyde Thomson and Mrs. Margaret Jackson, members of the Pro-Segregation League of Central High Mothers.

The three-judge appeals court, which held hearings on the three cases March 11, upheld the rulings of U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies in each case.

In the Faubus case, the Court of Appeals held the State of Arkansas could not lawfully use its forces to suppress "rights which it is the duty of the state to defend."

"The use of troops or police for such purposes would breed violence," the court said. "It would constitute an assurance to those who resort to violence to obtain their ends that if they fathomed in sufficient numbers to constitute a menace to life, the forces of law would not only oppose them but would actually assist them in accomplishing their objective."

Mrs. Thomson had brought suit against officers in charge of federal troops sent into Little Rock to enforce Judge Davies' order for integration of the school.

The appellate court had this to say about conflicting rulings by state courts and Judge Davies in the Little Rock situation:

"A federal court should not, when prompt action is required, be compelled to indulge in useless formalities in protecting its judgment from being emasculated by state court proceedings."

In the Faubus case, the Court of Appeals said:

"A rule which would permit an official whose duty it was to enforce the law to disregard the very law which it was his duty to enforce in order to pacify a mob or suppress an insurrection, would deprive all citizens of any security in the enjoyment of their life, liberty and property."

The opinions were written by Judge John B. Sanborn of St. Paul, Minn., and were concurred in by Judge Joseph W. Woodrough and Harvey M. Johnsen, both of Omaha.

Designed for Arctic Region

Ike Asks Khrushchev To Join Check Plan

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower called on Soviet Premier Khrushchev today to join the Western Allies in an Arctic region aerial inspection program against massive surprise attack.

The President, in a brief new note to the Kremlin leader, also appealed for Soviet Union reconsideration of the Eisenhower April 8 proposal for study of nuclear test ban controls by technical experts. Russia last week rejected that proposal.

In calling on the Soviet Union to join the Western allies in an Arctic area aerial inspection program, the President pointed out to Khrushchev that the United States already has announced its intention of bringing up the matter in the United Nations Security Council Tuesday.

A resolution will be introduced in the Council by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U.S. mission to the U.N.

"I am sure," Eisenhower wrote Khrushchev, "that with the growing capabilities in the Soviet Union and the United States of massive surprise attack, it is necessary to establish measures to allay fears."

The President's note added up to still another U.S. move to smash recent Soviet charges that this country is endangering peace by sending nuclear armed bomber planes across the Arctic area toward the Soviet frontier.

The Soviet Union brought that complaint before the U.N. Security Council last week. But Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev withdrew his resolution — asking the Council to halt such U.S. flights — after 9 of the other 10 members of the Council had spoken against it.

The United States denied the flights of its bombers were in any way provocative or threatening to peace.

Eisenhower said further: "The United States is determined that we will ultimately reach agreement on disarmament."

The President's message was made public at his weekend vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club shortly after it was delivered to the Kremlin in Moscow by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

A copy of the note was sent Sunday to America's NATO allies.

Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister, proposed Saturday that Poland and Czechoslovakia be included in talks on summit preparations, and Moscow radio reported Sunday night that Khrushchev personally backed up Gromyko's demands.

The inclusion of Poland and Czechoslovakia in these talks would be both democratic and just, Khrushchev said, but he added that the Western powers did not want to have open discussions on preparations for a summit meeting.

The Soviet Union has announced it is halting tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons and has called on the United States to do the same. Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is reserving the right to resume tests if this country does not order a ban.

Eisenhower labeled the Soviet announcement a propaganda gimmick. He wrote Khrushchev anew that the United States wants any test ban coupled with a mutual agreement to halt production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

In a new review of U.S. policy, however, Dulles reportedly has swung to the position that this country ought to enter into a test ban agreement with the Soviet Union, provided such an agreement is linked to a cheat-proof detection system.

Unless a Miracle Happens

Meany Says Unemployment Will Reach 6 Million in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said today he is quite sure unemployment will go close to six million in June unless some miracle happens.

Meany gave the estimate to reporters after a closed meeting of the AFL-CIO General Board, comprising representatives of all AFL-CIO unions. The latest government count was 5,200,000 unemployed in March.

The board adopted a statement saying that little to combat the recession has been accomplished despite the 1946 employment act, making it federal responsibility to "promote maximum employment, production and purchasing power."

"As a result the nation is faced with a depression," the statement said.

Meanwhile, a Senate-House Economic subcommittee heard a generally gloomy appraisal of the nation's economic outlook. Most witnesses urged further government action to counter the recession.

The most optimistic testimony was given by William F. Butler, vice president of New York City's Chase Manhattan Bank. He expressed belief the economic slump is approaching bottom and "we shall see a renewed advance before year's end."

Paul A. Samuelson, a professor of economics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said in prepared testimony that the present recession is worse than any previous postwar downturn and the end is not yet in sight.

Samuelson said that within the government "there seems to have been a rather shocking failure to recognize the seriousness of the situation."

The subcommittee is holding three days of public hearings on the fiscal policy implications.

Hail, Rain Move Out of Texas After 3 Deaths

DALLAS (AP)—Massive rain and hail storms had moved eastward out of the state today after touching off destructive flash floods and causing at least three deaths in east and north Texas.

Weather forecasters said the worst appeared to be over but more scattered thundershowers still were in prospect through Tuesday.

South Arkansas, also battered by two days of torrential rains, braced for further downpours. Officials said another deluge could almost paralyze a broad sector where high waters blocked numerous highways and routed several hundred persons from their homes.

Hail damaged more than 200 homes near McKinney and a tornado whipped the roof off the Frenship School 4½ miles southeast of there in north Texas.

Rains measuring more than 12½ inches sent floodwaters surging into low-lying residential areas of Atlanta, in the state's northeast corner, Pittsburg, 45 miles to the west, and Dallas and Fort Worth.

More than 50 families were homeless in Texas. Travel was disrupted in the worst-hit areas.

Gen. Twining Upholds Ike's Defense Plan

Says It's Designed To Keep Fighting Men in Joint Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress today President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan is designed to make certain no service could pull its fighting men out of any joint force.

Twining, an Air Force officer, spoke up strongly in support of the administration's proposal before a House Armed Services Committee which appears cool to many features of it.

Earlier the general had offered to give the committee behind closed doors examples of actions by individual services that would cause the officer responsible for the over-all fighting by a task force to worry. Twining did not say which services were involved.

Today, he said "it never did make sense to me" to have orders addressed to a fighting force made up of elements of more than one service go through the civilian secretary of one service department before reaching the field.

Twining said Eisenhower is right in wanting such authority to go from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, operating in the name of the secretary of defense, straight to the field commanders.

"Our field commanders," Twining said, "must know what they have, must be able to plan for the employment of what they have, and they must have the assurance that a single department, without the consent of the Joint Chiefs of Staff or knowledge of the secretary of defense, cannot take assigned forces away from them."

Eisenhower May Speak For GOP's

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently will be asked to campaign this fall for some Senate and House Republicans who have given his legislative program considerably less than 100 per cent support.

Chairmen of the Senate and House GOP campaign committees are understood to be working now on arrangements they hope will lead to active participation by the President in the battle for control of Congress.

The two chairmen—Sen. Schoepel (R-Kan.) and Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.)—have made it plain that they do not consider all-out backing for Eisenhower's legislative proposals as a prerequisite for their committees' help to candidates.

But campaign leaders are reported to feel that strategically placed and spaced visits by Eisenhower to doubtful territory will add political zest to their uphill battle.

From a practical standpoint, they realize that even those GOP candidates who have disagreed openly with the President on the handling of the economic recession are likely to be swept along on whatever political tide is running at election time.

If Eisenhower's calculations that there will be a business upturn and a drop in unemployment by fall are correct—and Schoepel is betting they are—most Republican candidates probably will be emphasizing that the GOP President refused to be panicked by Democratic demands for more massive and costly measures against the recession.

If the economy is stagnant or still sliding, few political strategists believe individual Republicans who called for more spending or tax cutting can escape the political consequences of what then is likely to be regarded as the administration's bad guess.

On the other hand, Democrats generally feel they have little to lose by advocating much more drastic anti-recession measures than Eisenhower thus far has been willing to undertake.

If the economy comes out of the doldrums, these Democrats feel they are in the position to say that recovery would have been swifter if their advice had been followed.

There Are Heroes, Too..

Sensational aspects of juvenile activities have been in the news lately. Another teen age killing in New York; on the local scene, involvement of teen agers in destruction of railroad property, and promotion of a gang feud between Marshall and Sedalia youths.

The usual routine: arrests and withholding names of teen age offenders because of ill-advised new juvenile laws, approved by Missouri legislators who ought to have known better. This law's intention to protect juveniles is certainly doing it. The lads are using it as a shield. They'll go into a store and make a nuisance or disturbance and then when reprimanded will challenge the proprietor to step outside. When the latter accepts the invitation, the teen ager hollers "you can't touch me—I'm a juvenile."

And so it goes supported by parental indifference to little Johnny borrowing the family car and driving half way across the state and back before bedtime to carry on all kinds of monkey business.

Some of the most unpleasant reading in newspapers these days concerns the rising crime rate among teen-agers. According to figures released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation recently, arrests of teen-agers involving all types of crimes rose again in 1957.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Women Campaign For Aid to Education

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Today begin formal hearings before Congressman Cleveland Bailey (D., W. Va.) for a school bill. It does not have the support of the Eisenhower administration, or of the big trucking and gasoline lobbies which rushed through the Highway Bill, or of the real estate interests that passed a Housing Bill, or of the banking lobby which blocked an investigation of high interest rates.

If the School Bill passes it will be largely the work of the women of the nation, as exemplified by today's lead-off witness, Agnes Meyer, sometimes called "The People's Lobbyist."

For over 150 years American women have crusaded for better education, beginning with Emma Willard of Troy, N. Y. in 1800, and Mary Lyon who founded Mount Holyoke College, and Catherine Beecher of Hartford, and Grace Dodge who devoted her life to educating immigrant children, and Ella Flagg Young who became the first woman superintendent of schools in Chicago; to Susan Miller Dorsey, first woman school superintendent in Los Angeles.

In recent years Mrs. Meyer, wife of the chairman of the Washington Post, has made it her job to interview the President to urge better education, has talked with senators, worked with cabinet members, and today is the first witness in urging passage of the Murray-Metcalf Bill which would grant states $25 a year for each school-age student and permit the states to spend the money on better buildings or better teachers' salaries as they wish.

"Knowledge," says Mrs. Meyer, "is the greatest single source of power in the working out of human destiny. Ideas are still the most powerful of all missiles. . . The cold war has been shifted by the astute leaders in the Kremlin from a competition in physical strength to a competition in brains."

"Whatever nation has the intellectual energy to win the support, respect and sympathy of the world's people, wins the world. . . Unless Americans take education far more seriously than they have in recent times, they will not long be able to compete with the U.S.S.R. for world leadership."

Neglected Author of Monroe Doctrine

Today is the 200th anniversary of a distinguished Virginian, James Monroe, President of the United States and author of the Monroe Doctrine. For over a year two present-day Virginians, Sen. Harry Byrd of Winchester and Congressman Howard Smith of Alexandria, have been sitting on a resolution they themselves introduced to honor this great founding father.

The Monroe Doctrine has been hailed as the first great proclamation of interdependence to bring closer relations between the Americans. Monroe also arranged the Louisiana Purchase. Having been instructed to purchase only the city of New Orleans, he exceeded his instructions and acquired the entire territory of Louisiana.

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

THE "REGULATORS" WEAKEN — We have 435 Congressmen and 96 Senators in Washington. They are the "REGULATORS" of our Constitutional right to engage in the Freedom of Enterprise. The Congress has the obligation to write and make the laws, and control the purse strings.

Our legal debt limit was 275 billion $'s. It has been jumped to 280 billions. When is the next jump, and for what amount? Congress has practically abdicated control of the purse. Whenever the Executive Branch gets in a financial jam, Congress increases the debt limit.

Eric Johnston is the new front man to further liquidate the value of our money and savings. Please, Eric, be honest and say, "The foreign aid money will come from additional taxes the workers are now paying, or by further diluting the value of the dollar."

Our gigantic Federal debt includes 68 billion $'s we have given to foreign politicians since World War II. More give-aways, estimated at from 5 to 10 billions, are now clogged in the foreign-aid pipeline.

The interest on the new foreign aid will cost us taxpayers at least 100 million $'s every year into the indefinite future.

I'm sure Senator Byrd is as regretful as I am, of the fulfillment of his unheeded prophecies. The Socialists and One-Worlders among us continue to tighten the noose that is strangling our Constitutional Free Enterprise System. Losing it, neighbor, what's left?

Auto theft was up 68 per cent; burglary up 55 per cent. Other figures are equally disheartening.

These facts can't be denied. But there was one recent news story concerning the younger generation which makes for inspiring reading—one that reminds us that there is a lot more to say about teen-agers than mere police figures.

This news event was the annual awarding of medals for heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

This year 18 persons were cited for outstanding acts of bravery. Of these, 11 awards went to heroes under 21, one of the largest groups of young persons since the commission was established in 1904. Nine of the 11 were teenagers or younger.

Among them was a 15-year-old boy who, although he couldn't swim, gave his life trying to save a smaller boy from drowning.

Another boy, 14, rescued a pal from a cave-in, only to be caught himself.

Youngest hero was a 12-year-old boy who, despite lameness caused by polio, saved an eight-year-old girl from drowning.

These awards go a long way toward putting the other news about teen-agers back into proper perspective.

However, no resolution to honor him has been passed by Congress.

Senator Byrd introduced a resolution to honor him, but did little or nothing to pass it. Byrd is a great power in the Senate. When the insurance companies wanted a $124,000,000 tax concession passed before the tax deadline of March 15 this year, Byrd led the fight to give them that concession. It passed just before midnight March 14.

When Senator Byrd's office was queried as to what he had done about the Monroe anniversary resolution, the answer was that it was still in subcommittee, awaiting action.

Congressman Smith is also one of the most powerful members of Congress. As chairman of the House Rules Committee he can block bills or rush them through in no time. He gave an immediate green light to the $124,000,000 tax bonanza for insurance companies. But when his office was queried about the resolution honoring President Monroe, the answer came: "Still in subcommittee."

Today (April 28) is the 200th anniversary of Monroe's birth. It is late, but not too late to pass the resolution even now.

Women vs. Meat Packers

The meat-packer lobbyists have wangled an agreement from Senator Ellender of Louisiana, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, to give the opponents of the Humane Slaughter Bill three days to testify against the bill. Those who favor humane slaughter will get only one day.

This will put the U. S. Army, the meat packers, and the Farm Bureau on the side of knocking animals in the head with a hammer and will put the Methodist Church, various humane societies, and hundreds of women on the side of using a carbon dioxide tunnel or other humane methods to slaughter animals.

Secretary of the Army Brucker has now lined up with his cabinet colleague, Secretary of Agriculture Benson, to support the meat packers. He is against a proposed provision that all meat purchased for the Army must be slaughtered by humane methods.

On the other side, the general board of the social and economic relations of the Methodist Church has just passed a vigorous resolution backing the humane slaughter bill and protesting Congressional delay in acting.

Most important of all, the women are threatening to boycott meat packers who don't adopt humane slaughter.

NOTE — It was a woman, Rep. Martha Griffiths, Democrat of Michigan, who put the humane slaughter bill through the House.

SOUTHINGTON (Conn.) NEWS: Reflections On Span Of Living. Statistics on our chances of living a normal lifetime, or even to the end of the week, are depressing when one in every ten persons will die of malignant disease, that even more will be felled by tuberculosis, that over half the hospital beds in the country are occupied by mental patients.

If a person is not out of circulation by one of many diseases, some scarcely heard of a few years ago, there is the chance in injury anywhere from on the highway to the rug of the hall. The probability is even greater in the home, experts say, than in traffic. Along with crippling injury, the human being runs the risk of contracting any of several maladies that will attack bone and flesh.

Only consolation in this grim situation is word that life expectancy has passed 70 years. The trick is to pick one's way through the minefield of life and reach that goal unscathed. The cleric says to live every day as though it may be the last. The cynic, in a twist of the same sentiments, says have a good time and to blazes with tomorrow. Brooding over the hazards along the way could lead, yes, could lead to a heart attack.

And so congratulations are in order with the passing of each day. That's a good, easy philosophy in an uncertain life. Reaching the goal will be fitting testimonial. Unless, once attained, it will bring only the realization that it came as the accumulation of days of no purpose, days of self interest, and days of beating the hazards.

Congress Has Its Busiest Days Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This busy Congress, bewildered first by the Sputniks and then by the recession, has its busiest days ahead.

When the legislators quit for 1957 last summer there had been no Sputniks and they were not very conscious of the dropping American economy.

They could look forward—so it seemed—to be a fairly routine session in 1958 and then the campaigns for the November elections.

But then the Soviets sent up their Sputniks. Congress came back in January excited about the missile race, hardly noticing the deepening recession.

By this time this country got up its three little satellites the broadening gloom of the recession hit Congress square in the face.

Between January and now, Congress has worked pretty hard, passing legislation which could be called anti-recession measures.

But the Congress members, like the Eisenhower administration, have shown some bewilderment in coping with this recession problem.

How to get the economy back on the track without derailing it by doing too much or too little too soon or too late?

Nw Congress is in its closing months of 1958 with its biggest and most heated issues ahead.

Here are some of the major tasks awaiting completion by Congress:

1. The election campaign. Even when its work is done it must go home and face the voters. All 435 House seats and 96 of the 98 Senate seats are up for election.

2. Unemployment pay. It's struggling with a bill to give extra benefits to jobless people who have already exhausted their unemployment pay.

3. The recession. Even unemployment pay may not be enough. If the recession gets worse, far more action may be needed.

4. Reciprocal trade and foreign aid. President Eisenhower wants both renewed. He seems certain to get both. The question is: In what form?

5. Streamlining the Defense Department. Eisenhower insists on action. It's any angry issue, with some lawmakers mightily stubborn against him.

6. Pension and welfare funds. The Senate almost surely will approve these this week a measure to protect such funds for employees. But this can't become law until the House also acts.

7. More regulations on unions. Before it leaves, Congress may have to tackle major labor legislation, which may also put clamps on employers too.

8. Outer space. Congress is wrestling in this new field with the idea of setting up an outer space agency. The question here is: Civilian or military control of it?

9. Appropriations. This is the problem Congress faces every year: Voting enough money to keep the government running.

Last year was stormy, with Congress embroiled over civil rights. This has been a fairly quiet year, but an uneasy one, and intense.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

State Prison Benefits From Surplus Items

Col. James D. Carter, director of corrections, is a man who could probably best the American housewife in a knockdown and drag out fight over bargains.

Carter proved his bargain hunting ability recently during a tour of the Alcoa Intermediate Reformatory at Jefferson City. The prison director is constantly on the lookout for surplus property items which can be used in the prison system. So far he's shown amazing success.

Pointing at a new shoe repair shop set up at Alcoa, Carter admitted that the main piece of equipment cost only $35. The shoe repair machinery was new and had never been uncrated before it reached the prison. A sewing machine for the shop only cost $15. The equipment will be used for vocational training of inmates and also to cut down on shoe repair costs.

As the tour passed a surplus army truck, Carter pointed at a few splintered boards on the truck's otherwise sturdy frame. "Be careful with that truck, boys," he said, "it only cost ten dollars."

If Carter can't get equipment from government surplus, he makes good buys from other sources. The canning factory at Alcoa was purchased from the state hospital at St. Joseph. It only cost $3,500 and is used every summer to preserve the truck garden products at the prison.

Carter has also been able to find useable items long stored away in the recesses of various prison buildings. At Alcoa he discovered a treasure trove of some $15,000 worth of cast iron pipe fittings, an uncrated centrifugal pump worth $1200 and several dozen new grass scythes. The equipment, he found, had been stored since Alcoa was completed 25 years ago. No one used it, he said, because they either didn't know it was there or thought it was stored there by some other agency.

Pension Petitions Out in 50 Counties

Petitions to require a vote on higher old age pensions in Missouri have been distributed in 50 counties and St. Louis and Kansas City. Rep. W. T. Bollinger (D-Carter County) said the petitions have space for 150,000 names although only 90,000 signatures are needed to require the vote on the proposed law.

The petitions provide that the public should vote next November on a proposal to increase the maximum old age pension to $75 a month and permit pensioners to live with relatives regardless of their income without losing their eligibility.

Bollinger said circulation of the petitions would be handled in 50 rural counties by pension groups organized for the purpose. In Kansas City, he hoped that Democratic ward organizations would handle the signature collecting and in St. Louis he is hopeful that labor groups will circulate the petitions.

The present maximum pension in Missouri is $60 a month and the federal government pays $39 as its share. Proctor N. Carter, director of welfare, said the federal payment would not be increased even if the state maximum pension was boosted.

This means Missouri would have to pay the entire cost of boosting the old age pension $15 a month. If each of the 123,000 pensioners received the increase, it could mean a $20 million annual increase in state spending.

And since the state's revenues are now used up with very little left over, an increase in sales or income taxes would be necessary to finance the increase pensions.

Missouri Ready to Pay For Election Ads

The state government is about ready to pay a two-year-old debt to Missouri newspapers.

Funds to pay state newspapers for advertising constitutional amendments in 1956 and 1957 were appropriated by the recent special legislative session and approved by the governor. The amount owed to Missouri newspapers is $45,557.76.

The 69th General Assembly in its regular session failed to appropriate the money because the omnibus appropriation bill was defeated on the last day of the session. The recent special session was the first opportunity the state had to pay the two-year-old debt. The state, however, will pay no interest on the amount owed.

Will Davis, chief clerk of the secretary of state, said it will be mid-May before checks will be mailed to the newspapers.

Ex-Civil Defense Head Off Payroll One Day

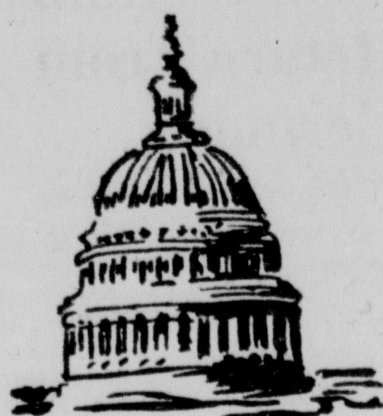

It's hard to stay off the public payroll it seems.

Marvin Smith, who was fired Feb. 28 from the $7,000 a year post of state civil defense director by Gov. James T. Blair, was back on the state payroll March 1.

Smith is now a sales tax auditor for the department of revenue at $285 a month. He covers the two county district of Linn and Chariton counties. According to his boss, T. A. Stapleton, supervisor of the sales tax division, Smith is doing a good job.

The civil defense director serves at the pleasure of the governor and Blair announced that "his pleasure was ended."

Ironically enough, Dean Lupkey, whom Smith had fired from a job as assistant civil defense director, was named by the governor as Smith's replacement.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Learning to walk is a long and arduous process for an infant. First he crawls. Then he tries to balance himself in an upright position. Unsteadily he takes a step, then two steps, then more. He still has to learn to manipulate his body and his legs so that he does not fall.

Bumps occur by the dozen. Skinned knees scarcely heal before they are bloody again. He does not sit down and say to himself, "There is no use in my trying." He is determined to walk and he accomplishes the feat.

With this example before us we ought to realize that learning to walk spiritually with God requires the same determination. A few bumps, a score of failures and some scoffing from others should not discourage us. We must have the determination of a child if we are going to enjoy the normalcy of walking on our own, spiritually.

Big Exhibit of Grain Drying Equipment Will Be Held at Fairgrounds on May 2

Eight Firms Are Invited To Take Part

Some of the companies selling grain drying equipment are going all out to demonstrate that equipment. The opportunity is at the big district display meeting at the Fairgrounds this Friday, May 2. It starts at 1 o'clock.

Eight different companies have been invited by the county extension agents to display their equipment. Seven of them have agreed but one has gone further. They have made arrangements with a local farmer to shell some wet corn in an outside crib and deliver it to the fair ground that morning.

The batch dryer in question holds 373 bushels and it will not operate satisfactorily until full. Because of that it will be necessary to bring two truck loads of wet corn to fill the dryer. However, it is assumed that the farmer will get his corn dried free of charge.

As mentioned earlier, the meeting starts at 1 o'clock. The speaking will be in the coliseum and will be over soon after 2 p.m. At that time the crowd will be dismissed to look over the various exhibits.

If the weather is stormy, the equipment will be displayed in the Coliseum and in an open building with a roof, just across the street. However, if the day is clear it will all be on the main street in front of the Coliseum.

The first speaker on the program will be J. M. Ragsdale, extension grain marketing specialist, from the University of Missouri. Next will be a representative of the Pettis County ASC office who will tell about their five-year loans to purchase grain drying equipment. The last speaker will be Bernard Dove, of near Green Ridge, who used one of the loans to buy a batch dryer last year. Dove increased the market value of his 1957 grain sorghum crop enough by drying to pay about half the purchase price of the dryer.

This meeting was planned for farmers and equipment dealers of the Sedalia trade territory and everyone interested is invited to attend. It is actually being sponsored by the Pettis County Soils and Crops committee, and Carl Raines, the committee chairman, will be in charge of the meeting. Further information can be obtained at the extension office at Sedalia or from the extension offices at Booneville, Versailles, Warsaw, Warrensburg or Marshall. Another district meeting is being held at Clinton the previous day, May 1.

Choosing Tomato Varieties Is Difficult Job

Choosing tomato varieties can become pretty exasperating at times. Most seed catalogs list from 20 to 30 varieties and now that hybrid tomatoes have come into the picture, the job of selecting a variety becomes more difficult.

Here are two groups of tomatoes which have proven themselves over the years. If you haven't found your "ideal" variety yet, or if your present varieties aren't responding satisfactorily, I would suggest you try one or more of these.

For early, medium-to-large fruited tomatoes suitable for staking and pruning, try Break-O-Day, Burpee hybrid, Moreton hybrid, or Valiant. These varieties are most outstanding in performance.

Recommended main crop, will resist tomato varieties include Rutgers, Stokesdale, and Marglobe. The new variety Homestead is actually recommended in place of Rutgers and Marglobe, but plants are not likely to be generally available this year. Homestead outyields Rutgers and Marglobe and is much more will resistant.

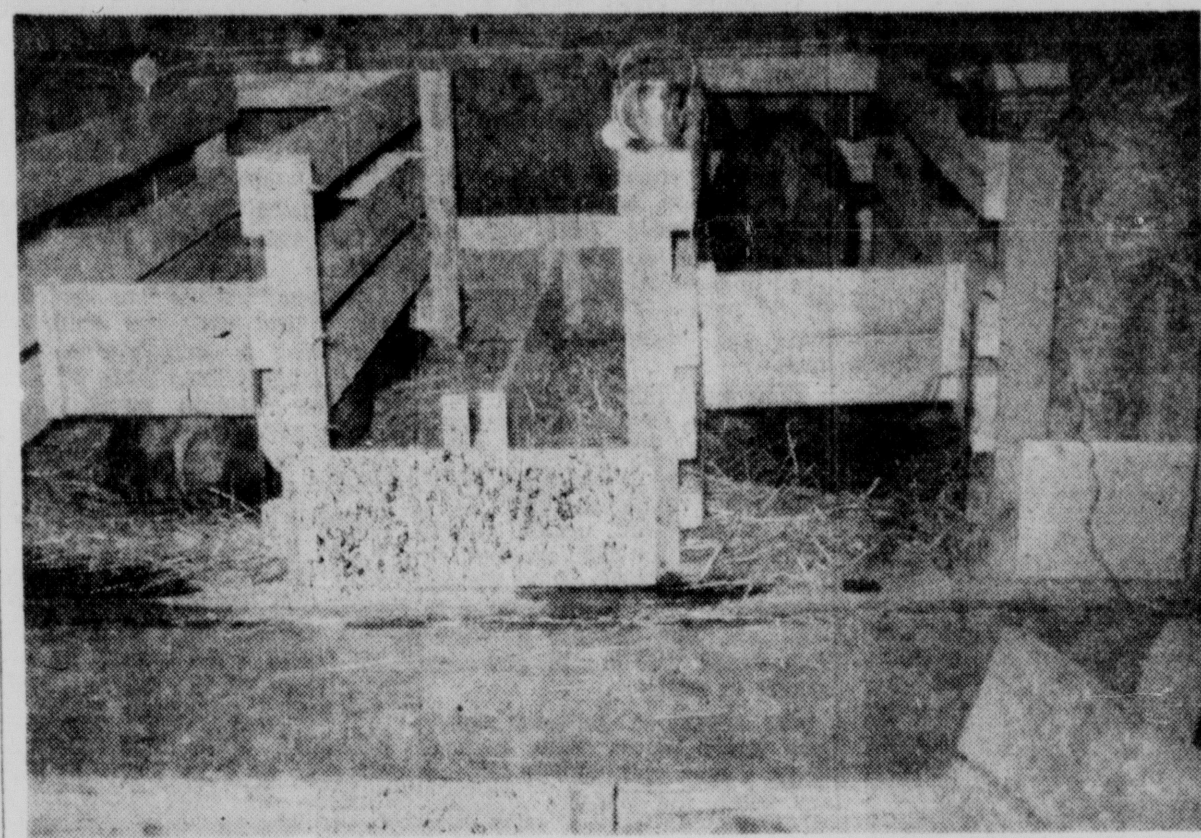

Remember, quite often the performance of a variety is directly dependent upon the kind of care given it. No variety will perform well on an under-fertilized or over-fertilized soil. Failure to provide enough moisture and control insects and foliage diseases may mean poor luck with your tomatoes, no matter what variety it is.

Integration Is Becoming An Issue

By GLENN GRIMES
MU Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist

Vertical integration has received much discussion and comment during the past year. Nearly every farm magazine has carried articles on the subject. We might say it has become almost a controversial issue, which makes it difficult to view objectively.

From all the discussion we have about integration we would think it's something new. Actually agriculture was completely integrated in colonial times. The farm family handled all phases of production and processing. But as our society became more and more urbanized the old family type integration gave way to highly developed specialization.

What is integration? A simple definition that integration is an arrangement whereby the decision making process at two or more stages in production and processing of a commodity are concentrated at one level.

Types of integration:
1. Individual—As colonial farm.
2. Cooperatives.
3. Contract — between producer, processor and/or feed dealer.

Why current interest?
1. Feed Dealer—Way to expand volume.
2. Packer or Processor — Interested in a steady supply and more uniform quality of product.
3. Producer.

a. Financing.
b. Technical assistance.
c. Security or eliminating risk as much as possible.

What are the possible disadvantages to producers?

1. Shift decision making from producer to processor or dealer.
2. May make supply less responsive to price.
3. Possibility of less profit per unit.

Thinking of hogs, we believe integration will not develop nearly as rapidly as it did in broilers. There are several factors for this. Two of these are the different genetic make-up of hogs. Longer life span makes for more difficulty in product control as compared to poultry and second, the hog industry is fully developed and highly organized as compared to broiler.

This doesn't mean we will not have considerable integration in the hog industry eventually and, that if we do, it will be advantageous to the majority of hog producers. Producers should study a contract very closely before signing and be sure the advantages will out-weigh the possible disadvantages.

Aphids on Alfalfa?

Farmers with alfalfa will remember the problem we had two years ago trying to clean up infestations of pea aphids in the crop. As fast as we cleaned up a field with spray, more aphids would move in and reinfest it again.

Normally the insects' natural enemies, the lady bug beetle and other parasites, would have built up and helped to get the insect under control. However, the weather stayed so cool that the lady bug did not multiply but the aphid did.

We do not know what the situation will be in 1958, but the starting weather conditions are similar to two years ago. Also I found some aphids Friday in an alfalfa field at R. R. Higgins a few miles southwest of Houstonia.

The aphids were small and few in number and there are some every year. However, the population can build up in a hurry. However, I do not have a rule as to the number present before control is warranted.

Controls should be used as soon as it becomes evident that injury is starting. Usually one application is sufficient, as the aphid gives birth to living young rather than laying eggs.

Malathion at the rate of 1 1/2 pints of 57 per cent emulsifiable concentrate per acre is recommended for ground rigs or parathion for commercial operators. Do not spray unless temperatures are above 60-65 degrees and the wind velocity is below 12 miles per hour. We will plan to keep folks posted as to developments.

Plant Resistant Strains of Alfalfa
The winter of 1957-58 has proved the value of the more resistant strains of alfalfa. Recently I visited the Smith & Brady dairy farm east of Hughesville to review some farmstead arrangement plans one of our extension engineers had drawn. I also had along our visitor from Thailand, Charoen Prasertaratna.

As we left, Bob Smith suggested we look at two fields of alfalfa that had been seeded the previous spring. One was seeded to a resistant strain, Buffalo, and it looked

We have certainly had our ideas changed about the best time for planting corn. Both the experience of farmers and experimental tests over the state tell us that the earlier corn is planted the better. Today's corn hybrids can even take a little frost without much damage.

Why this change in ideas? It looks as if there are three reasons. First, hybrid corn seedlings have a lot more vigor than old open pollinated corn plants, and they start off faster. Then, the practice of treating seed now generally used, helps get good stands even when corn is planted early. Third, the use of soil insecticides also helps get and keep a good corn stand.

The results on tests over the state the past three years have been consistent in favor of early planting. Of course, planting dates for different parts of the state vary with earliness of the season.

Let's look at the results over the past three years in mid-Missouri, as an example. Plantings on April 20 have averaged 74 bushels per acre. Plantings on May 20 have given 13 bushels less. June 20 plantings have been down in yield 12 bushels per acre more, or 49 bushels. So, between April 20 and June 20 plantings there has been a total drop of 25 bushels per acre, on the average, in mid-Missouri.

Another interesting thing is in regard to lodging of corn. Date of planting hasn't made much difference on stalk breakage, but it certainly has on root lodging. Again, at experiment stations in mid-Missouri, it has been found that plantings made April 20 had 15 percent root lodging, May 20, 30 percent, and June 20 plantings as much as 45 percent of stalks root-lodging.

So, it certainly looks as if there's a big advantage in planting early corn, as long as it's not so early sacks that are tied to the core with binder twine.

Soak the sacks with 5 per cent DDT mixture (made by mixing one quart of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate in four quarts of fuel oil), or with 5 per cent toxaphene (made by mixing one third quart of 65 per cent toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate, prepared especially for livestock, in four quarts of fuel oil), or with 2 per cent malathion (made by mixing six tablespoons of 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate in four quarts of fuel oil).

It usually takes about one gallon of mixture to soak the sacks the first time, and about two quarts applied every two weeks to keep the backrubber "charged".

Recommends Asparagus For Garden

If you haven't already a planting, here's something you might like to set out in the garden—asparagus. Art Gaus, University of Missouri extension horticulturist, says this is one vegetable that ought to be in more gardens.

Asparagus is a perennial, which means that a planting now will last for many years and it requires little care after establishing the plant. It may be placed in an out-of-the-way spot of the garden where a planting of other crops might be less handy.

You can either buy one-year-old plants or buy seed and raise your own year-old plants to re-set next spring. Be sure the soil is fertile, Gaus reminds, asparagus is one vegetable that can stand a lot of lime and manure.

Now asparagus need not be planted in a deep trench as is commonly thought, says the extension specialist. A furrow should be deep enough so the crown of the year-old plant should be about three inches below soil level. Cover spread roots with about an inch of soil and as asparagus grows keep filling in the trench.

Cattle on Ohio farms numbered 3 per cent lower on Jan. 1, 1958, than they did a year earlier.

Farmers' Electric Bill Reaches Record High

A current report shows that the average monthly electric bill for farmers as of July last year reached a new high of $10.50, one per cent higher than 1956 and 71 per cent higher than ten years ago.

At the same time the 1957 cost per kilowatt hour was slightly below that of 1956 and 19 per cent below that of ten years ago, according to the USDA report.

Conjecture Growing As Derby Nears

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Derby will be run for the 18th time Saturday. That's for sure. But everything else about the $125,000-added turf classic for 3-year-olds is conjecture.

Even the weatherman clouded the picture today as trainer Jimmy Jones sought a jockey to replace injured Bill Hartack on favored Tim Tam, the hardboiled diagnosed Silky Sullivan's performance last Saturday and the largest field in eight years loomed for the 1 1/4-mile race.

Rain turned Churchill Downs' strip into mud and retarded training schedules. The weatherman saw no early clearing.

Jones has been deluged with offers to ride Tim Tam, hope of the Calumet Farm, since Hartack broke his leg in a fall from a horse here Saturday. Dave Erb, winner in 1956 with Needles, is expected to get the call.

Hartack retained a faint hope. "The only chance is one in a hundred," said the little Johnstown, Pa., native from his hospital bed.

"The X-rays have been sent to Dr. Alexander Kaye in New York and he will make a decision. Jimmy has told me he is going to leave it open for a few days."

Hartack, the nation's leading rider the last three years and winner last year astride Iron League, suffered a broken fibula, the small bone between the ankle and knee, when his mount reared in the starting gate and tossed him over backward.

As for Silky Sullivan, the big West Coast chestnut with the come-from-far-behind style.

Many raved about his performance in last Saturday's 7-furlong race in which he trailed by as many as 32 lengths and wound up fourth, beaten about 2 1/2 lengths.

Backers of Silky claimed the Derby distance will be right down his alley.

Russians Show Disappointment; Wilt Not There

TIFLIS, Russia (AP)—Russians in this Georgian capital gave American basketball players a lavish reception today, but they appeared disappointed over one thing.

Wilt Chamberlain didn't make the trip.

Chamberlain is the towering Negro star of the University of Kansas. Georgians at the airport crowded around the U.S. players and asked questions about Wilt the Still.

The Russian players had surprising knowledge of the Kansas star, as well as other college standouts.

American men's and women's team arrived from Moscow, where the men won two and the women lost two games to Russian foes.

Some 300 persons were at the airport, including Georgian, Estonian and Azerbaijani players. Many of them bore bouquets of flowers which were presented to the smiling Yanks.

The men's team, composed largely of the Peoria, Ill., Cats, arrived first in a big Russian plane. Vladimir Samsonov, deputy chairman of the republic's physical culture and sports committee, said, "long live friendship between our two countries."

Forty-five minutes later the plane bearing the Nashville Business College team and other U.S. women players arrived. They got a similar welcome.

Scoring Takes Upward Surge Amid Doubles

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Scoring took another upward surge in the 30th day of the 72-day American Bowling Congress. The recent Sunday was in the doubles department.

Bill Tucker and Jim Vrenick of St. Louis worked out a 1414 between them to wrest the two-man lead from Joe Joseph and Bob Nickel of Detroit, who had assembled a 1369 last Friday. Tucker, 31, blasted a 237-259-233-731 series and Vrenick, 47, chipped in 683.

The Tucker-Vrenick total was the third highest in 55 years of ABC history. John Klares and Steve Nagy, both of whom were bowling out of Cleveland at the time, set the two-man record in 1952 when they pounded out 1453.

Tucker, who had rolled 591 in the team event and 636 in the singles, also took fifth in the individual all-event with his 1958.

Fred Olmsted, Jackson, Mich., rounded out the day's major changes when he rolled a 715 series to Garner second place in the singles. The 41-year-old chiropractor rolled games of 245, 234 and 236.

Open team squads Sunday were characterized by mediocre scoring and there were no serious challenges to the leaders.

Hebert Is Sure Of Open Door On His Return

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Jay Hebert will get a warm welcome from officials of the Lafayette Open golf tournament any time he wants to try his luck again in the $15,000 event.

Hebert, a Lafayette native and the hometown favorite of the gallery, made the first edition of the tournament a whopping success Sunday as he carded his fourth straight sub par round to win the $2,000 first prize money. Most of the 4,000 fans who followed the former Louisiana State ace in the hope that he would surge ahead, and he got better with each round.

Hebert, now playing out of Sanford, Fla., trailed after each of the first three rounds, but fired a four-under-par 67 in Sunday's finals for a 72-hole total of 273, five strokes better than his nearest challengers and 11 strokes under par.

His earlier rounds over the 6,300-yard Oakbourne Country Club course were 69, 69 and 68.

Going into the final round one stroke behind Leo Biagetti of St. Paul, Minn., and Bill Collins of Grossingers, N. Y., Hebert shot his best round. He had three birdies and a bogie on the front nine and two birdies on the back side.

Biagetti, playing in the same threesome with Hebert, took a two over par 73 and finished in a tie for second at 278. In the deadlock with him was Bob Sosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., who had a final 69.

Collins had a final round 75 and dropped to a 280 and a tie for sixth.

Cardinals Make Money But Fizzle on Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals were a financial success but fizzled on the field in their debut at the big Coliseum in Los Angeles against the Dodgers.

The Cards played before 136,371 fans in their three-game series and took home a nick check of $37,391.

But they lost two of the three games and ended the series still at the bottom of the National League, 4 1/2 games from the leading San Francisco Giants and a game behind next to last Philadelphia.

Yesterday the Cards lost 10-3. Pitcher Johnny Podres was the winner. The loss was charged to Sad Sam Jones.

Jones was hit by a liner from the bat of Elmer Valo on the leg. If Jones is sidelined for long, the Red Bird pitching staff is in trouble. Herm Wehmeier is also on the sick list with an army injury sustained against Los Angeles Friday.

Stan Musial got two hits out of three times at bat and thus far has hit safely in all 11 Cardinal games. He has a .523 batting average.

Golf Parade Has Leonard As Its Leader

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The golfing parade heads for Texas and the National Invitational at Fort Worth today with Stan Leonard of Canada, surprise winner of the $40,000 Tournament of Champions leading the procession.

Victor in but one major open in the United States, the Greensboro last year, Leonard, a youngish 43-year-old professional from Vancouver, B. C., tucked away $10,000 for his efforts here.

Leonard, winner of six Canadian PGA championships, came out on top by one stroke in a dramatic seesaw duel with the pace-setting Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif.

His rounds of the straight 69's capped by Sunday's brilliant 68 gave Leonard a 72-hole score of 275. This 13-under-par total broke the tournament record of 278 set by Art Wall Jr. in 1954.

Casper's rounds of 63-70-71-70's, 276 over the par-72 Desert Inn Country Club course went to pot on one disastrous hole.

This was the 403-yard 17th with its treacherous water hazard. He drove into the pond, hit into it again and wound up with a double bogey six.

He and Leonard were all even going into the 17th. Leonard went one over par on the last hole but the damage to Casper was done. He settled for $5,000 second money.

Casper for the fourth day led the way by one stroke, and for the last round it was over Leonard and Tommy Bolt.

Bolt got an eagle and a birdie on the first two holes, and then bolted to a 74 and a tie for fourth.

Frank Stranahan moved into the third spot with a 71 for 280.

Gene Littler, who had won this event for three straight years, finished with a 68, 281 and a tie with Bolt.

Ken Venturi, the pre-tournament favorite, came in at 283, one shot behind Dutch Harrison and Arnold Palmer, and tied with George Bayer and Gardner Dickinson.

Manager Tighe Still Insists His Tigers Improved

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Despite Detroit Tigers' wretched spring showing, Manager Jack Tighe stoutly maintained they are at least 25 per cent improved over last year. Why?

"Among other things," he said, "we have a much better bench. The guys used to hide when I'd be looking for a pinch hitter. This year they march up and down in front of me so I can see them."

No one could blame the bald-headed little guy if he gloated a bit after his Tigers' 9-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians Sunday.

Playing with four reserves in the starting lineup, the Tigers assaulted six Cleveland pitchers for 14 hits as they ended the Indians' four-game winning streak and climbed into a fourth-place tie with the Tribesmen.

The Los Angeles Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3.

In the only other league action, Boston crawled out of the cellar, beating Washington for the first time this season, 7-5.

The limping Tigers, having dropped two straight to Cleveland, took the field with reserves Milt Bolling at shortstop, Gail Harris at first base, Gus Zernial in left field and Tim Thompson behind the plate. Harris walloped three hits, including a double, and drove in a run. Bolling rapped two hits, and Zernial got two and drove in two runs. Thompson didn't hit but he handled Billy Hoelt well as the left-hander chalked up his second triumph without a defeat.

The Tigers broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth when pinch hitter Lou Skizas walked and raced to third on Harvey Kuenn's double. Singles by Zernial and Harris scored both.

Dodgers' Attendance Going at Record Clip

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If they maintain their present boxoffice pace, the Los Angeles Dodgers will beat Milwaukee's baseball attendance record this year.

The Dodgers' performances in Memorial Coliseum have been mediocre in several instances. But their fans are loyal and forgiving, and how owner Walter O'Malley loves them.

"Why, they're amazing," O'Malley said.

Los Angeles Fans Wonder About Team

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Disillusioned Los Angeles fans have been asking whether these are the same Dodgers who made Brooklyn famous and who can blame them?

Sunday's starting Dodger lineup against St. Louis showed only two incumbents from the one which faced the New York Yankees in the final game of the 1956 World Series—Gil Hodges at first base and Junior Gilliam at second.

Gone were third baseman Jackie Robinson, catcher Roy Campanella and left fielder Sandy Amoros and on the bench were shortstop Pee Wee Reese, right fielder Carl Furillo and center fielder Duke Snider. In their stead were Dick Gray at third, Rube Walker behind the plate, Norm Larker in left field, Don Zimmer at shortstop, Elmer Valo in right and Gino Cimoli in center.

The revamped Dodgers didn't fare badly either. With Larker, Gray, Cimoli and Walker playing key roles, the Dodgers walloped St. Louis 10-3 to win their first series of the year, two games to one. Gary walloped a home run—his fourth of the year—and a single, driving in three runs. Cimoli and Walker knocked in two runs each and Larker one.

The San Francisco Giants had their four-game winning streak snapped by the Chicago Cubs, who came from behind to eke out a 5-4 triumph. In the National League's only other game, Philadelphia conquered Milwaukee 6-2.

Johnny Podres went all the way for Los Angeles, spacing 10 Cardinal hits for his third straight victory. Four double plays helped him immeasurably.

The Cubs not only snapped the Giants' streak, pulling up into a second-place tie with Milwaukee, a half game behind San Francisco, but executed the first triple play of the major league season. In the first inning with Willie Kirkland on second and Willie Mays on first, Hank Sauer lined to pitcher Dick Drott, who fired to Tony Taylor at second, getting Kirkland, Taylor relayed to Dale Long at first before Mays could get back, completing the triple play.

Phils Manager Thinks Braves Are Better

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mayo Smith, studious looking manager of the Philadelphia Phils, thinks the Milwaukee Braves are better this year than last when they won the National League pennant by eight games.

"I can't classify the degree in terms of percentages or games," Smith hastened to add Sunday, "but there is no doubt in my mind they are stronger."

Sooners, Tigers Will Meet In Columbia This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Oklahoma Sooners and the Missouri Tigers will meet in a three-game baseball series at Columbia, Mo., this week end that should go a long way toward determining the Big Eight Conference champion.

A 9-inning game is scheduled Friday, two 7-inning games Saturday.

Oklahoma vaulted into the conference lead (6-2) last Saturday by winning a doubleheader over 1957 champion Iowa State 4-2 and 9-1. The Sooners swept their three-game series with the Sooners, who were beaten 11-8 in 11 innings Friday.

Missouri held onto second place for the third straight week although the Tigers split a doubleheader with Kansas State on Saturday, winning the first game 5-0 but taking a 6-3 beating in the nightcap. It left the Tigers a half game behind Oklahoma at 5-2.

Oklahoma State was bumped from first to third place as the Cowboys split two games with Kansas. Kansas won the first game 1-0 and Oklahoma State the second 4-2.

Nebraska and Colorado divided a well played doubleheader. Nebraska won the opener 4-3 and Colorado the nightcap 4-3 in 10 innings.

Among the top performances last Saturday, Missouri's John

Donoghue had a no-hitter going for 6 1-3 innings against Kansas State before Paul Bader touched him for a single. It was K-State's only hit in the 5-0 decision.

Lefty Larry Miller of Kansas and Joe Horlen of Oklahoma State each pitched 2-hit ball in the first game won by the Jayhawks 1-0.

Kansas has a single game scheduled with Wichita in Lawrence Tuesday.

The schedule of one 9-inning game Friday and 7-inning doubleheaders Saturday will find Kansas State at Iowa State, Kansas at Colorado, Nebraska at Oklahoma State and Oklahoma at Missouri.

Oratory Finals Held At Horace Mann

The finals for the seventh grade oratory contest for Horace Mann School were held Wednesday afternoon, April 23. The contest was sponsored by the Modern Woodmen of America. The subject was "Shrines of America". Bill Hurt were Linda Burton, Craig Jones, Linda McMullen, Myra Arbogast, Donna Garrison, Juanita Bigelow, Carol Kueck and Mary Ellen Morrow. The judges were Harold Barick and Elbert Blair. The finals for Grades 5 and 6 will be held on Wednesday, April 30, at Horace Mann School.

Garden Club Meeting Held At Library

The Junior Garden Club met at the public library April 17 for its regular monthly meeting with 25 members present.

Mrs. James M. Ryan from Garden Club 8 had charge of the program for the day. The topic for discussion was "Birds" and Mrs. Ryan told how Mother Nature had provided a feather duster for her, through the birds, to help keep her house clean.

First there is the ceiling cleaners. These are the birds that fly in circles in the air searching for insects and feeding solely on insects. In this group are the swallows, purple martens, whip-poor-wills, fly-catchers and night hawks.

Second are the floor cleaners. These are the birds that search for food on the ground, such as the bob-white, rough grouse, black bird, crow, cow bird, bob-o-link, sparrows, junco, mocking bird and wren.

Third are the furniture cleaners or dusters. These birds find their food on trunks of trees or under bark and are seen exploring the leaves. In this group are the woodpeckers, nut hatch, warblers, tit mouse, orioles, cuckoo, vireo.

Fourth is the sink and drain cleaners. These birds are found around the water, along the shores of streams. They have long slender beaks and legs. This group is made up of sand pipers and plovers, herons, ducks and penguins.

Fifth, Mother Nature has rat traps, too. These are the birds of prey and work day and night such as the owls and hawks.

Sixth, are the garbage cleaners and Mother Nature has both land and water garbage cleaners in the buzzard by land and the gulls by water.

Seventh, to take care of her bric-a-brac, the things of beauty, she is blessed with the humming bird.

In conclusion Mrs. Ryan brought out the fact that the birds are a very strong bond between man and nature, if it were not for the birds man would be destroyed by insects and that it is to everyone's interest to protect, feed and water the birds.

Dennis R. Semkin, 902 East Boonville, will serve his internship at El Paso General Hospital in El Paso, Tex.

Elmer Van Dyke, Smithton, will serve his internship at the District of Columbia Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jacob S. DAILY RECORD

Magistrate Court

Charles Melvin Connor, employed by the Howard Construction Co., pleaded guilty to a charge of overweight in a gravel truck and was fined $335 and costs. The truck was checked at a weight station at the junction of Highways 50 and 85 in Sedalia April 14. Judge Armstrong computed the fine in accordance with state law in overweight cases.

Lytle Milton Reed, Kansas City, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving by passing another car on a hill east of Dresden where the view ahead was obstructed, and was fined $25 and costs. He was stopped by the Highway Patrol April 18.

Robert Eugene Rodick, 1420 State Fair Blvd., pleaded guilty to a careless and imprudent driving charge by passing another car on a hill near the Pettis-Johnson County line where the view ahead was obstructed, and was fined $25 and costs. He was stopped April 12.

Garry Michael Croner, St. Joseph, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge, and was fined $25 and costs. He was stopped April 13 by the Highway Patrol after being checked by radar while traveling at 72 miles per hour when the limit was 60 miles per hour, on Highway 52.

Joe Harkless Selvey, Lamar, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $25 and costs. He was stopped by the Highway Patrol April 13 on South Highway 65, after being checked by radar while traveling at 75 miles per hour.

Amos Russell Rhinehart, Houston, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving by failing to yield the right-of-way and driving on the wrong side of the road and causing an accident, and was fined $25 and costs. He was driving behind a bus on North Highway 65 April 15, when the bus slowed down to make a turn. According to the Highway Patrol, he started to pass the bus and met an oncoming car.

Stanley Owen McMahan, Kansas City, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $25 and costs. He was stopped on Highway 50 by the Highway Patrol April 13, after being checked by radar while traveling at 82 miles per hour.

Quince Edward Jones, who figured in a one-car accident after a police chase in Sedalia April 24, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving by speeding and failing to maintain control of his car, and was fined $25 and costs. Judge Frank Armstrong, noting that Jones is only 17, and that this was his first offense, placed Jones on probation and suspended the fine on condition that Jones does not appear in Magistrate Court again.

The chase began in Sedalia when Acting Assistant Chief of Police Jack Coutts noted Jones' erratic driving and attempted to stop him and caution him. According to Coutts' testimony, when he flashed his red light and turned on his siren, Jones sped away towards Highway 65. Coutts gave chase and Jones' car went out of control and hit a concrete culvert at the Hudson service station just north of the city limits, and the car ended up in a field to the right of the road. Jones was thrown out, and suffered minor injuries. Coutts said Jones was facing a charge of speeding in the city limits, in police court Monday.

A Thought For Today

A man is a salesman all his life no matter what his vocation.

Dates Ahead

May 6, County 4-H Council Meeting — Assembly room of courthouse, 8 p.m.

May 11, National 4-H Sunday.

Applications Due May 8

Here are some opportunities for you older 4-H members, 14 years and older (14 before Jan. 1, 1958). All applications must be in the County Extension Office by 5 p.m. May 8, as selections will be made by the Rural Youth Committee the night of May 8.

State 4-H Club Week, June 11-14. This event is held at Columbia where you will have the opportunity to become acquainted with the College campus of the University of Missouri. It will include assemblies, group discussions, tours, a mixer, a picnic and a party. High school seniors should not miss this opportunity to become acquainted with the College Campus. There will be 800 to 900 4-H members there so this will be quite a conference.

As many as 14 delegates may attend from Pettis County. Delegates must be 14 years of age and have completed two years of club work. We hope that at least one boy and one girl from each club will submit an application.

If you have attended State Club Week in previous years, you may attend again if the quota of 14 is not filled.

The total cost for the 4-day event is $11 which includes meals, lodging, $1 to sponsor State IFYE delegate, and accident insurance. We agents will arrange the transportation. The Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club will pay the $11 fee for one girl selected for this educational trip. The County Farm Bureau gave $25 last year to be divided evenly to pay part of the fee for the others going and no doubt they will do so again this year. Entries are due May 8 at 5 p.m.

What to wear — What you wear will make a big impression on those who observe you 4-H'ers on the University Campus. Girls are to bring at least one 4-H uniform, if possible to wear to some of the conferences. School type clothes may be worn for other occasions except a party dress will be appropriate for the last evening's party. Boys are to wear slacks, white shirt and tie to all
